

CONGRESS HITS BALL WITH HOPE OF ADJOURNING

Several Obstacles in Way of Adjournment This Week End

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—Congress hit the adjournment trail once more today after a week's lay off for the Republican convention.

Its Republican members back from Cleveland, the committee seeking to reconcile house and senate differences on the vital tax point of contention—the proposed levies on undistributed corporate earnings.

"We may be nearer an agreement—I guess we are," said Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house tax conference after the morning meeting. He expressed hope of seeing the measure through congress by the end of this week.

Other conferees said not one controversial phase of it had been agreed upon.

Conferees on the other major pre-adjournment measure, the deficiency appropriation bill carrying $1,425,000,000 for relief, had their first meeting but reported they considered no controversial items before recessing for lunch.

Robinson Uncertain
As to the general outlook for adjournment before the Democratic convention next week, Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, refused to make a definite prediction.

"It all depends on the conference committees," he told reporters.

An uncertain element was the proposed price-fixing substitute for the outlawed Guffey coal control law. It was approved with some modifications by the senate interstate commerce committee and there was a possibility of house action on it during the day.

Leaders of the house and senate launched an intensive drive to wind up the work of the 74th congress before the Democratic national convention next week, but there were several barriers to be hurdled before they may reach their goal.

One of the most stubborn obstacles in the path of adjournment is the strike-tax bill on which conferees worked throughout last week with little material progress toward a compromise on controversial points.

Hoped for Reports
When congress recessed a week ago today for the Republican convention it was the hope of leaders that conference reports on the revenue bill and other measures would be ready for final action today.

Conferees on the $2,430,829,000 deficiency-relief bill did not meet last week and still have several knotty problems to solve before they make their report.

In addition to the tax and relief bills, congress has yet to act on conference reports on the treasury-post office, the interior department and the District of Columbia appropriation bills as well as the Robinson-Patman chain store regulatory measure, the anti-lobby bill and a number of minor bills.

The Vinson-Guffey coal bill, designed to replace the Guffey coal act invalidated by the Supreme Court, has not yet come up in either house or senate and some members seemed determined to stay here until it is passed.

The possibility existed that if congress does not finish its work this week, it will be in session through the first of July since it is understood a week's recess would be taken for the Democratic national convention in the event adjournment sine die can not be reached by Saturday night.

NETTZ' GARAGE IS BURGLARIZED

Yeggs Secured Tools, Accessories, Cash to About $500

The George Nettz & Co. garage on Ottawa avenue was the scene of an robbery during last night which resulted in the loss of cash, tools an accessories, approximately $500 it was estimated.

Albert Hopkins, an employee, discovered the robbery when he entered the garage shortly after 6 o'clock this morning.

City and county officials were called to the garage early to conduct an investigation and begin a search for the yeggs. Entrance was gained by crashing a window on the east side of the building in the repair shop department. The crackmen apparently parked their car in the lot on the Elks club property then climbed up on the roof of the J. E. Miller garage property and into the Nettz machine shop.

They apparently worked with deliberation in selecting such articles from the stock as they wanted and these were passed out of the broken window to be loaded into the car. A large safe was removed from the office in the front of the building and hauled on a truck to the machine shop where an effort was made to open it. A smaller safe was also hauled into the machine shop and this they succeeded in opening, getting about $25 in cash. The larger safe was badly damaged, but the yeggs were unsuccessful in reaching the cash box and abandoned their efforts.

Tools were taken from the repair department and used in opening the small safe and in attempting to crack the large safe. The thieves selected about $250 worth of tools from the machine shop which were hauled away and ransacked the stock room where accessories were carried to the open

Spreckels was hurled from the tiny boat into the air and against a telephone pole where a blunt climbing spike impaled his arm

FORMER EDISON INVENTOR SLAIN MYSTERIOUSLY

D. McFarlan Moore is Murdered Outside His Home Today

East Orange, N. J., June 15.—D. McFarlan Moore, 67, electrical engineer and inventor, was found shot to death today following an early morning argument with an unknown man outside his Park Avenue home.

Police Chief C. N. Dell said two bullets from a .22 caliber revolver were fired into the man's head. He pointed to the fact that the second bullet had been fired at close range—where were powder marks about the head—in support of their theory that it was a case of murder.

Mrs. Mary W. Taber, a neighbor, heard the early morning argument between the two men as they stood in the rain. She told police she then heard two shots, and she looked from her window and saw the body sprawled on the lawn 20 feet from the Moore garage, the doors of which were opened. She then summoned police.

Had Planned Trip
Moore, who lived with his daughter, Beatrice, 25, had gone to the garage to get his car for a trip to Bethlehem, Pa., to attend the funeral of a relative, police learned.

Miss Moore provided detectives with what they considered a promising lead in the case. She said a man she did not know came to the house last night about 9 P. M., and asked to see her father. When told the inventor had retired for the night, he left without disclosing his identity or mission.

Deep Footprint
Police found a knife, umbrella and jar of salad on the ground near the body. Detectives theorized that Moore had planned to take the salad with him on the trip as a lunch. The umbrella, investigators believed, belonged to Moore.

A deep footprint, freshly made in the rain-soaked earth, was discovered in a garden close by the garage and detectives said they believed it had been made by the slayer as he fled.

Moore, relatives and friends said, had more than 700 inventions to his credit, and 100 of them had been patented. For many years he was connected with the Thomas A. Edison Company, leaving to organize his own concern, the Moore Light Company. He retired two years ago.

12th Child Expected by Quints' Parents

Callander, Ont., June 15.—(AP)—A 12th child is to be born to the parents of the famed Dionne quintuplets, a relative of the family said today.

Mrs. Olivia Dionne will give birth to the baby about Sept. 1, this source declared, and has already consulted physicians about her confinement.

Neither Dionne nor his wife would confirm or deny the expected event. They have refused to discuss the question since reports of a new baby kept recurring after the birth of the quintuplets, May 28, 1934.

The farm home where the mother, father and their other five children live is now quarantined for measles. Nearby is the hospital where the famous sisters live. One Dionne child died some time ago.

BLACK LEGION'S DEATH PACT REVEALED TODAY

Detroit, June 15.—(AP)—Dayton Dean, Black Legion gunman, told from the witness stand today of signing with four other men a "blood pact" to slay Arthur L. Kingsley, Highland Park editor who was fighting the terrorists' organization in his community newspaper.

Dean was a witness at the preliminary examination of eleven men charged with conspiracy to murder Kingsley.

"We each cut our hands or arms and then Hepner (Goy Hepner, defendant who waived examination) gave us a match which we dipped into the blood and signed our names on a piece of paper," Dean testified.

"Hepner said Kingsley was to be taken care of because he stood in the way of Markland's re-election," Dean referred to N. Ray Markland, who was defeated for re-election as mayor of Highland Park in 1934 and who subsequently was on the staff of Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea here until his suspension June 6. He is one of the defendants in the conspiracy case.

Present at the signing of the pact in the fall of 1933, Dean testified, were Hepner, Albert Schneider, Alvin Clark and Frank Rice, all of whom except Hepner were automobile factory employees.

Dean told of lying in wait for Kingsley on several occasions but said the plot against the editor was abandoned after Markland's defeat at the polls.

Indiana Governor Must Quit Office

Indianapolis, June 15.—(AP)—Those in the administration of Governor Paul V. McNutt claimed today their candidate, Lieutenant Governor M. Clifford Townsend, would be nominated for Governor on the first ballot of the Democratic state convention here tomorrow.

The Indiana constitution provides a governor can not succeed himself, so Governor McNutt will not be considered.

E. Kirk McKinney, backed by U. S. Senator Frederick Van Nuys, and Pleas Greenlee, supported by U. S. Senator Sherman Minton, took issue, however, with the administration leaders. Neither McKinney nor Greenlee claimed a majority, but said they have 1,200 votes between them—"enough to stop Townsend."

Cheney, DeKalb physician, charged with committing an illegal operation which was alleged to have cost the life of Miss Marian Buck of Franklin Grove, Lee county, which was to have started today, has been postponed until September. The continuance was granted in the DeKalb county circuit court at Sycamore on account of the critical condition of the physician's wife. Miss Buck passed away at the Dixon public hospital Feb. 16 of this year.

TERSE ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED IN DIXON DURING DAY

CHICKEN THIEVES BUSY.
Chicken thieves have been very active in Lee county during the past week and several flocks have been diminished through the operations. The cars listed bore the following license plates: 468-647 Kentucky; 327-754 Tennessee; 9363 A. Ohio; D-3267 Michigan, 6946 and 6533 Ohio.

FORMER SUITOR OF SLAIN GIRL OBJECT SEARCH

Geneva, Ill., June 15.—(AP)—Search for a former suitor of Nella Penunzi, 22-year-old tea room manager slain Friday night, spread through lower Wisconsin and north toward the Canadian border today as the girl's body was carried to its grave by six former schoolmates.

While the search for the rejected suitor, Rinaldo Di Pietro, 30, was being pressed in Chicago, his home, and broadened as reports of men answering his description came in, Sheriff Albert Kampmeyer of Kane county intensified a hunt for the death weapon.

The sheriff assigned six jail trustees and five deputies to comb the wooded area at the scene of the slaying near St. Charles, Ill., in the hope of finding the death weapon.

Miss Penunzi's body, a bullet wound in her head, was found in a thicket Saturday. Her blood-spattered automobile was some distance away. She had last been seen, Sheriff Kampmeyer said, with Di Pietro, whose attentions had been rejected after a long courtship.

The funeral service was attended by hundreds of relatives, friends and the curious who filled St. Peter's church. A procession of nearly 50 automobiles followed the hearse to the Oak Hill cemetery.

Ten room employees, said Sheriff Kampmeyer, related that Miss Penunzi left the club with Di Pietro Friday night after he demanded, by telephone, that she see him.

The slain girl's sister Argia declared Di Pietro, rejected after his four years courtship, had threatened Miss Penunzi.

FIDDLE-PLAYING MAYOR OF PITTSBURGH BACKS UP

Hour in Jail Changed His Decision to Fire Director

Pittsburgh, June 15.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's wisecracking, fiddle playing mayor, William M. McNair, back-pedaled today in his latest spectacular maneuver, which got him jailed and brought on a grand jury investigation of the city police courts.

He announced the recall of Public Safety Director Thomas A. Dunn from an enforced 15-day furlough, which had been ordered because the director refused to make 116 police department changes.

"We need Tom to supervise our exposition and jubilee which opens next week," was the mayor's only explanation of his peace move, ending a week-end of great confusion among police.

"I think it is a happy solution," commented Dunn, who not only had refused to order the police "shakeup" but disregarded the furlough mandate and directed the chief of police to pay no attention to McNair's appointment of himself as acting safety director.

Spent Hour in Jail
As "acting director" McNair had ordered the shakeup with the result many jobs had two men reporting for duty, one named by the mayor, the other by the director.

Judge Ralph H. Smith stepped in at this juncture, ordering an investigation of the police magistrates' offices. The mayor, also a magistrate, appoints the other magistrates.

Deputy sheriffs seized all the police court records causing McNair to refuse to hear the cases of four men charged with disorderly conduct. He sent them to Judge Smith.

The judge had the mayor arrested and bound over to the grand jury on a charge of misbehavior in office. McNair spent more than an hour in jail before his bail was furnished.

CHIANG ATTACK ON KWANGSI IS BEING EXPECTED

Hong Kong, June 15.—(AP)—Well-informed sources predicted tonight Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, leader of the central government, might order an attack by national troops on Kwangsi province in the south.

National government troops, day by day, are occupying more strategic points along the borders of the southern provinces. Generalissimo Chiang's men have taken up positions in Yungting and Shanghai in Fukien province and Shanghai, Hengchow, Chuchow, Leiyang and Chenchow in Hunan province.

At some places, only 30 miles separate the northern and southern forces.

Kwangtung province is continuing its preparations for defense against an attack of national troops, but an improvement in relations between Kwangtung and Nanking government officials indicated Chiang would not attack Kwangtung.

The relations between Nanking and Kwangsi province, however, are more precarious, and persistent rumors are heard that the provincial leaders are receiving Japanese support.

The authorities of Kwangsi province are recruiting soldiers feverishly, taking particular pains to capture men who attempt to evade the conscription law. In order to outwit attempts to evade conscription through false declarations of age, the military age now is declared to be from 14 to 55 years.

YOUNG MOTHER SUICIDES
Kankakee, Ill., June 15.—(AP)—Despondent over an argument during the evening meal, police said Mrs. Beatrice Cole, 24, drank poison last night, then, regretting the act, tried antidotes, but died as a physician arrived. The wife of a factory worker, she was the mother of two children.

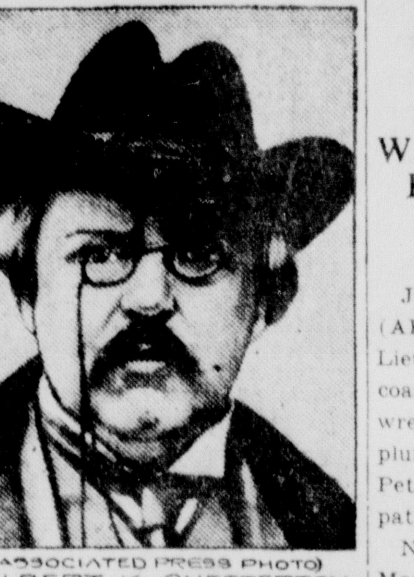

Automobile Found Half Buried in Silt at Bottom of 125-Foot Lake Where Diver Seeks Bodies of Four Roswell, N. M., June 15.—(AP)—An automobile, half sunken in silt and mud at the bottom of a 125-foot lake north of here, lent impetus today to a search for the bodies of four Illinois tourists whose disappearance more than a year ago still is a mystery.

State police, balked by darkness last night, renewed efforts at removing the machine today. It was discovered yesterday by E. P. Lane, a deep-water diver. It apparently had been in the lake about a year, he said.

The new aspect of the search brought from Chief E. J. House, Jr., of the state police, the expression that possibly the car might

Career Ended

Beaconsfield, Eng., June 15.—(AP)—The versatile literary career of Gilbert Keith Chesterton was closed today.

"G. K." as he was generally known, died yesterday after a week's illness in his home outside London. He was 62.

Funeral services are to be held Wednesday.

His last work, completed in April, was an autobiography describing the literary achievements of the "Prince of Paradoxes," a name by which he was often called.

Chesterton's varied career led him from art study to criticism which he later expanded to include varied forms including essays, poetry, detective stories and newspaper writing.

KNOX PLEASED WITH HAMILTON

Likes Way New National G. O. P. Chairman Delivers Punches

Chicago, June 15.—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox declared today that the "plain people" are welcoming Gov. Alf M. Landon's candidacy "with open arms."

The Republican vice presidential nominee said he had "a flood of telegrams and letters" in proof that Landon's nomination for president had aroused "a striking response."

Said the colonel, at a press conference in his office in the Chicago Daily News:

"There's a tremendously significant reaction to the Cleveland convention. These letters and telegrams show that the people have been waiting for someone they could understand and tie to. The whole New Deal was foreign and strange to them, and it was upsetting."

Hamilton's Punch
"They welcome Gov. Landon with open arms."

Another development which delighted the colonel was the report of John D. M. Hamilton, new national committee chairman, to the broadside aimed at Gov. Landon by James A. Farley, from the Democratic trenches. (Note—Hamilton's statement will be found on page 5 of this issue of the Telegraph).

"Farley's discovered he's up against a real fighter who can punch," said Knox. "I was delighted to see Hamilton swing and land."

Knox spent the day cleaning up his desk preparatory to leaving tonight for Topeka, where Gov. Landon holds the party's first post-convention war council tomorrow.

THREE DIED IN CRASH OF COAST GUARD AIRPLANE

Was On Patrol Duty in Florida Storm Area Early This Morn

Jacksonville, Fla., June 15.—(AP)—Divers found the body of Lieut. Charles Martin Perrott, coast guard pilot, jammed in the wreckage of his plane which plunged into Tampa Bay near St. Petersburg today while on storm patrol.

No trace of Radioman Walter O. Morris and Aviation Mechanic William D. Eubanks was seen, the divers reported. It was believed they may have been thrown clear of the craft when it struck the choppy bay.

Coast guard vessels found grappling equipment insufficient to raise the plane which lay in about 14 feet of water and awaited the arrival of a marine crane.

The coast guard craft Nemenis, one of the boats sent to search for the plane, reported the wreckage was sighted by plane at 9:20 A. M. (EST).

Officers aboard the Nemenis said the plane apparently dove into the bay about 3:15 A. M.

"All hands believed lost," ended the terse message.

MANY MAROONED
Ft. Myers, Fla., June 15.—(AP)—Residents of many south Florida cities were marooned by high waters resulting from a tropical storm which crossed the state and went out to the Atlantic ocean today.

There was heavy rainfall thru the night, but no material wind damage was reported.

Sheriff Bob King said he was informed by residents of Bonita Springs, 20 miles south of here, that the waters there were the highest they had been in about 10 years—approximately 2½ feet.

DID YOU EVER?

By Joseph Fort Newton

Did you ever, in your whole life long, know of a man who lost his job because he did not drink liquor?

Did you ever hear a mother say that her boy would be a noble man, more useful and honorable, if he were a drinker?

Did you ever know of a woman who said that her husband would have been a better man to live with, and a better father of his children, if he had spent more money for drink?

Did you ever hear children complain that they were robbed of their chance of health and happiness, and their opportunity of an education, through the temperate habits of their father?

Did you ever know of a young man, thinking of a girl for his wife to decide in her behalf because she could lap up liquor, or guzzle more cocktails than anyone else? Honestly, now!

Did you ever hear a girl say, explaining her choice of a husband, and her hope for a happy home and married life, "He's just a darling, and the jolliest drinker anyone ever knew?"

Did you ever hear, even in a rumor, of an employer looking for a man for a responsible position in his business saying, "Give me the boozier every time, he's just the man I am looking for?"

Did you ever read of a man accused of a crime trying to excuse himself with the plea, "If I had been drunk I should never have done it?"

Did you ever know of an insurance company offering to reduce premiums to a drinker, because he was a better risk?

Did you ever know of a motorist involved in an accident attributing it to the fact that he had not had a few drinks before starting out?

Did you ever know a town, issuing a handbook of its amenities and assets, to give a list of its saloons?

Did you ever hear anyone prove, by plain facts and sound reasons, that liquor makes for health of body, clarity of mind, and cleanliness of life?

Prairie Star School to Observe 100th Anniversary Saturday, July 4th.

Prairie Star school will observe its one hundredth birthday on July 4 at Hunt's Grove in Lafayette township, at the site of the first school house in Ogle county.

According to a history of the school written some years back by Mrs. H. W. Yates of Rochelle, the first Prairie Star school house was built of logs in 1836 at Hunt's Grove and upon the spot where this building stood, has been erected a marker. This log school house was used until 1848, when a second building was constructed on land donated by Andrew Drummond, grandfather of Mrs. Yates.

The first teacher in the log cabin school house was Chloe Clark Cartwright, mother of the late Justice James H. Cartwright of the Supreme Court of Illinois and the site of this first pioneer school was marked with a boulder, and exercises held on Sept. 17, 1909. Many of the first pupils were present at the unveiling exercises.

Presiding at the exercises was Supervisor A. M. Johnson of Polo, then chairman of the county educational committee. In attendance at this dedication were several of the former students of the log school, Mrs. Helen Dugdale, Gilbert Reed, H. A. Drummonds, Mrs. Sarah Earl, Mrs. Addie Trask, J. C. Moats and Justice James H. Cartwright, according to an article taken from the files of the Republican of Sept. 23, 1909.

The programs used that day carried a picture of Mrs. Cartwright, the first teacher and also of the boulder which was unveiled, together with the inscription upon it "Marking the Site of the First School Building in Ogle County, Lafayette Grove September 17, 1909." The inner pages carried a cut of one of the early log houses of that immediate section and the program for the day was:

Music—Lafayette Band.
Address—"Early History of LaFayette Grove," A. W. Rosecrans, Ashton.

Quartet "Ogle County"—Bernice Ripberger, Fay Emerson Florence Medill, Harold Wade, Oregon Reading, "Sally Ann's Experience," Mrs. B. S. Marshall, Oregon.

Music—Lafayette Band.
Address—Justice James H. Cartwright.

Unveiling of Boulder—Bernice Drummond, Nelta Mall.
Music—Lafayette Band.

The affair was largely attended, many coming from quite a distance.

to have part in, and enjoy the program.

One of the surprises of the day was the calling of the late Virgil E. Reed, to the speakers stand and presenting him with a solid gold G. A. R. badge in appreciation of his services in locating the boulder for the marker upon the Abigail Hardesty farm and presented to the county by the heirs of the family. The granite boulder weighed three tons and the inscription was cut after it had been moved to the school site by Mr. McLean of the Rochelle Marble Co.

So much for the past, and now the interest turns to the present, when on July 4 an observance of the one hundredth anniversary of Prairie Star school is to be held, with a fitting program arranged and to which all friends, former pupils, relatives of former pupils, teachers and all others whose interest has always been centered in Ogle county and Lafayette township are invited to be present.

The program for the day will open with a concert by the Rochelle Municipal band at 10 A. M. after which the outline is:

11 A. M.—Ashton high school male quartet.

11:45—Burnell Henart impersonation of Georgia Goebel WLS radio star.

Noon—Basket picnic and cafeteria dinner. Free coffee, cream and sugar. Bring your own table service.

There will be a full program of entertainment all afternoon.

THE NATION'S HOPE

Landon and Knox. Under that banner may Republicanism and sanity and safety return to the United States and to the White House. Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas and Col. Frank Knox of Illinois are the unanimous choice of the Republican convention in Cleveland—the most harmonious convention the Republican party has experienced in many, many years.

The fight against the New Deal is on. It will be a bitter one, with entrenched office holders, backed by an administration which will blithely and cheerfully spend billions of dollars, (your billions by the way, Mr. Taxpayer) on one side and patriotism, love of freedom, love of democracy and a determination to continue this union of states under our liberty-giving Constitution, on the other side.

The Cleveland convention made a wonderful choice in its leaders. The gravity of the situation seemed to inspire the convention and all thought of jealousy or sectionalism or personal ambition was swept away by the desire to present a united front to the threat that faces America in the November election.

Landon and Knox will be elected.

LANDON AND KNOX

Gloomy republicans, who for three long years have been saying that it can't be done, now may change their tune.

It can be done.

Governor Landon's popularity among the plain people is beyond anything anybody anticipated for any man a year ago.

Yet there it is.

This plain American from one of the states of the plains has two great advantages as a candidate of one of the dominant political parties.

1. He is the type of man who is favored by the average voter.

2. He has caught the fancy of the great mass of people because of his soundness on subjects fundamental to the American system of government, in contrast to the demagogic appeals that have made "prairie state" a term of derision on the seaboard.

Leaders in demagoguery and mobocracy now come from the eastern seaboard, while Kansas, rid of its populism, admonishes the republican national convention that sound money means money convertible into gold on some agreed basis of exchange.

In 1896 it was more dangerous and threatening for the republican party to declare for the gold standard than it now is, because delegations of entire silver states stood ready to walk out of the St. Louis convention in the event of a declaration for continuance of the gold standard—and did walk out.

The declaration was made, Bryan and his arraignment of class against class reached its peak in August, when he probably would have been elected had the vote been taken then, and finally when the fury of class appeal had died sufficiently, the people lost their fear of the word gold, realizing stability of gold as a measure of money, and a majority voted for William McKinley.

If there ever had been doubts concerning the courage of Landon of Kansas, certainly they must have been dissipated upon the reading of his telegram to the convention.

Pussyfooting writers of resolutions had spent days attempting to dodge use of the word gold, probably at the command of Senator Borah, but the man who is going to have to carry the banner of the party and of the people said in tones that were clear that he would go all the way with the delegates on their sound money plank, and that he would go farther and tell the world what he regarded to be sound money.

Men whose egotism too often had to be satisfied, men who insisted on having their way of making trouble for everybody concerned being out of the way, unification among leaders and delegates was speedy and readily brought about the nominations for the presidency and for the vice presidency.

Nomination of Col. Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, for the vice presidency was good judgment, good strategy, and good news. It was good judgment because it recognizes a man who wavered not one moment in condemning the breaking of promises and the advancement of economic fallacies and the flouting of the constitution by the Roosevelt administration.

It was good strategy because Colonel Knox, though young enough to have had a part in the World War, reaches back far enough to have been one of the Rough Riders under command of Col. Leonard Wood and Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt in Cuba during the Spanish war. He was chairman of the republican state committee of Michigan in 1910-12. He supported Theodore Roosevelt in his Bull Moose adventure but supported the republican state ticket instead of the Roosevelt ticket. He is publisher of a newspaper in Manchester, N. H., in a state that was first to go to his support for the presidency this year. He was publisher of a newspaper in Boston up to the time he acquired the Chicago News in 1931. Before coming to Chicago he also gave up his post as general manager of Hearst newspapers. He has no Hearst alliance now, but neither does he have the Hearst enmity so far as appearances go. At present he is publisher of a leading Chicago newspaper, in the city second in size and the state third in size, in the United States. It was good strategy because Illinois stands third in the number of electoral votes cast and the state now is in the hands of the opposition party. Although his residence in the state has been comparatively short, he was given strong support in the presidential primary. If giving second place to a state with a large electoral vote and a doubtful political status still is good strategy, as it always has been considered, then the convention acted wisely.

It was good news to Illinois, and in consideration of the large support given Knox in the pre-convention campaign, it must be good news in many precincts of the country.

WISCONSIN IS WISCONSIN

During the last quarter of a century the presence of the Wisconsin delegation in a republican convention has been much like a donkey in a pack of elephants. The donkey never would be hitched and had one or both hind legs over the traces all the time.

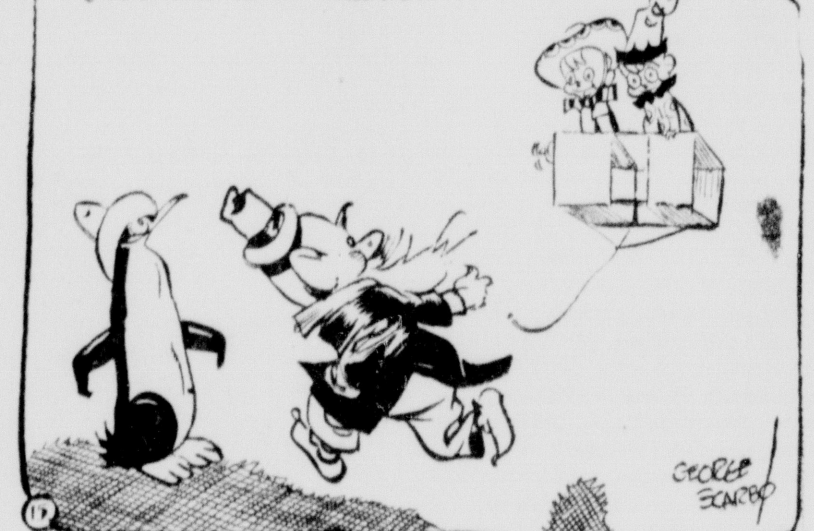

The elder LaFollette regularly went to the convention with an ambition to be president and with nothing much to base it on except the Wisconsin delegation. Finally, after the Cleveland convention of 1924, LaFollette formed his progressive party and went about seeking the presidency outside the party whose name he had been using.

With the LaFollettes outside the range of republicanism, it was reasonable to anticipate that once more Wisconsin would come as others came and conduct itself as others conducted themselves. It couldn't be. Senator Borah released the delegates pledged to him, but enough of them insisted on voting for the Idahoan to interfere with the unanimity that had been anticipated in nomination of Governor Landon.

Otherwise about all the delegation did was to show that Wisconsin still is Wisconsin, resembling a donkey in a pack of elephants.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tynmites were tickled pink, and Goldy shouted, "Just to think that we are going to ride the kite the magic man is in."

He's sitting 'way up there at ease, just floating onward with the breeze. Perhaps the kite will take us some place we have never been."

"What does it matter where we go?" said little Coppy. "All I know is that I want to get away from this place pretty soon."

"We've been here long, it seems to me, and seen all there is to see. Gee, wouldn't it be great if we could travel to the moon?"

"Aw, don't be silly," Goldy said. "The moon is too high overhead. Besides, it is a ball of fire. At least, so I have heard."

"You'd better just be satisfied to have most of any sort of ride. This stopped poor Coppy and he didn't say another word."

Soon Duncy shouted, "Hip, hooray, the kite is coming back this way. The magic man is falling. Oh, the kite is going to land."

That's just what happened. On the ground, the little kite is stopped, safe and sound. "Now it's your turn," the magic man said. "My flight was just grand!"

The Tynmites, all brave and bold, just couldn't wait till they were told to climb aboard the dandy kite. They scrambled for a seat.

As soon as they were clinging tight, brave Windy loudly cried: "All right, please tell the kite to rise, 'cause we are ready for our treat."

"I'll take the kite's long cord and run," the magic man said. "Oh, what fun 'twill be to help you get away. Is everything all set?"

"Sure thing," yelled Scouty. "Run real fast until you get us up at last." That's what the old man did, and all the Tynies yelled, "Hurray!"

DAILY HEALTH

FOOD SPOILAGE IN SUMMER.

Food spoilage is more common in summer than other seasons. The risk of being poisoned by eating spoiled food is therefore greater at this time.

Only a few instances of food poisoning threaten life. But the sufferer is usually acutely ill, and many are incapacitated for a long time.

The symptoms of food poisoning are essentially those of an acute gastro-intestinal upset—diarrhea, vomiting and marked prostration.

The germs most commonly responsible are those of the salmonella group (named after their discoverer, Daniel Elmer Salmon), and they as well as the toxins they produce act as gastro-intestinal irritants.

Because of the prompt, forceful reaction of the body to food infection, most of the offending material is soon ejected. However, the sufferer requires prompt medical aid, and this should not long be delayed.

Sometimes the poisoning is due to the toxins produced by germs which strangely are not to be found in the offending food.

The most serious form of food poisoning is caused by the botulinus germ (from botulus, meaning sausage), whose toxins are extremely poisonous even in minute quantities. In one instance eight persons who ate sandwiches made of wild duck paste, contaminated with botulinus toxin, died before aid could be brought to them.

The botulinus germ thrives best in improperly preserved protein foods. In this country a common source of botulinus infection is improperly home-canned vegetables, preserved in an alkaline medium.

WHAT THE NEWS WAS AROUND DIXON IN YEARS GONE BY

50 YEARS AGO.

Clinton N. Powell, a promising young lawyer of Omaha, Neb., and Miss Mary A. Hawley of this city were united in marriage last evening.

Howard Quick of Ashton has a colt with an extra leg, growing out from its shoulder, about eight inches in length. Mr. Quick was in too much of a hurry to give the colt away for soon after he did so he was offered $50 for the animal on account of the freak of nature that it exhibited.

25 YEARS AGO.

James Bailou has a freak chicken at his home, 122 West Everett street. The bird is now over two months old and has but one wing. The Twentieth Century Baking company, headed by William Beier announces plans to open an immense new bakery in the building formerly occupied by the old box factory on East River street, with a capacity of 21,600 loaves daily.

10 YEARS AGO.

City council considers enactment of new traffic ordinance which is met with opposition.

Dr. H. C. Barth of Amboy, county veterinarian, today pleaded for cooperation of members of the board of supervisors in tuberculosis eradication among cattle herds of Lee county.

No specific rules can be offered to safeguard one surely against food poisoning. Fresh foods should be used, foods should not be left uncovered where flies and other insects can contaminate them, all foods should be kept cool or refrigerated.

While boiling or heating foods to be consumed will destroy the germs present, heat does not always destroy or render innocuous whatever toxins may be present.

Tomorrow—Fear.

PRESIDENT NOW EN ROUTE BACK TO WASHINGTON

Ended Speech - Making Excursion in Indiana City Yesterday

Aboard Roosevelt train enroute to Washington, June 15—(AP)—President Roosevelt traveled back to the nation's capitol today leaving a trail of a dozen speeches in six western states, several of them on subjects of which more is expected to be heard in the coming campaign.

Awaiting him at the end of the 4000 mile journey was a tax-emboled congress seeking ways to agree and adjourn before the Democratic national convention, and the all-important task of framing his Philadelphia acceptance speech challenging to battle his already nominated rival, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas.

Noticeably tired but apparently holding up well from his arduous speech-making in broiling suns and miles of parading, pageants and dedications, the chief executive hoped the congressional situation would either definitely compose itself or clear enough for him to make a little excursion to New Haven, Conn., for the Harvard-Yale boat race next Friday.

Dedicated Memorial

The president terminated his speaking tour yesterday morning at Vincennes, Ind., where he dedicated a memorial to George Rogers Clark, savior of the northwest in the Revolutionary War, with a speech stressing freedom of religion, a re-arming against "new devices of crime and cupidity," and conservation of natural resources.

Later in the day he received a group of Kentucky political leaders at Louisville and went on a brief visit of Lincoln's birthplace at nearby Hodgenville.

The president issued a formal statement saying he had gone to the shrine "individually, as one of many millions of Americans whose lives had been influenced for the good by Abraham Lincoln."

"Here," he said, "we can renew our pledge of fidelity to the faith which Lincoln held in the common man—the faith so simply expressed when he said:

"As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master. This expresses my idea of democracy. Whatever differs from this to the extent of the difference, is no democracy."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 14.

The Golden Text was, "Fear thou not; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness" (Isaiah 41:10).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever. As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from henceforth even for ever" (Psalms 125:1,2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In divine Science, man is sustained by God, the divine Principle of being. The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this, Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, —presuming not on the prerogative of his creator, but recognizing God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe man as He doth the lilies" (p. 520).

GRAB BAG GANG IN WASHINGTON OBJECT ATTACK

New Chairman of G. O. P.
Committee Unlimbers
Vitriolic Pen

Topeka, Kas., June 15.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon turned his thoughts today to an eastward attack in a fortnight campaign for the presidency.

The plan of battle remained in an embryo stage, pending councils today and tomorrow, but the Republican nominee was reported attracted to the idea of speaking in several large eastern cities, to precede a probable western tour.

John D. M. Hamilton, manager of the Landon campaign, was due here today from Chicago, where he replied to a critical statement by James A. Farley, the Democratic campaign general.

Expected tomorrow to round out the mode of attack are Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, the vice-presidential nominee, and the sub-committee in charge of campaign strategy.

A quiet Sabbath, his first day of relaxation since he won the nomination, left Landon refreshed today for the task he set himself—wading into a fighting campaign with a willingness to go anywhere it might take him.

Tentative Plans
Authoritative sources indicated today the first speeches would be made by Hamilton, then Knox, with Landon swinging in for the final salvo about August 15, after giving largely of his time to a special session of the Kansas legislature in July.

Hamilton announced an office would be established in Chicago and that he expected to be there "about 60 per cent of the time." All executives of the various campaign divisions, he said, will be appointed and functioning by July 1.

If the eastern tour materializes, it was said, Landon would not limit it to the Pennsylvania and Ohio districts he knew as a boy but would include such centers as New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

Had "Typical" Sunday
The governor and Mrs. Landon enjoyed a typical Sunday, at church and at home. His new role was reflected, however, in a larger number of handshakes and well-wishers, and in the pastor's specific mention of "the great honor shared by all of us in the selection of the governor of Kansas to become the Republican candidate for president of the United States."

Hamilton, in his statement at Chicago, charged that Farley tried for months to prevent the nomination of Governor Landon and was "clearly dissatisfied" with his nomination and the party's platform.

"If it's going to be a dirty campaign," Hamilton said, "we'll let him (Farley) set the tempo of it."

HAMILTON'S STATEMENT
Chicago, June 15.—"Mr. Farley is of course both frightened and disappointed. He is clearly dissatisfied both with the Republican candidate for the presidency and with the Republican platform. That was one of the purposes of the Cleveland convention."

Those were a few of the words used yesterday by John D. M. Hamilton, the new chairman of the Republican national committee, to set James Aloysius Farley back on his heels. The Democratic generalissimo who does the rough work for the present administration was told succinctly that if he likes that kind of stuff that's what he'll get.

A Thought for "Big Jim"
The red-headed young Kansan who managed the Landon pre-convention campaign and was promoted to head the G. O. P. for the November battle took his first opportunity to tell "Big Jim" that he and his friends probably couldn't understand the Cleveland platform and some of its wording such as "private honor and public faith."

On the way from Cleveland to Chicago by plane yesterday he read newspaper accounts of a statement attributed to Farley. As he stepped from the plane at the Municipal airport for the few hours intervening before he resumed his journey homeward to Topeka, he manifested an anxiety to get at Mr. Farley at once.

"I'm going to the Palmer House," he said, "and 20 minutes after I get there I'll have something to say about Farley."

Text of His Statement
His statement, except for the first paragraph quoted above, was as follows:

"Mr. Farley has been trying for months to prevent the nomination of Gov. Landon. He seems irritated that the party did not accept his impartial advice, and he expresses his irritation in his usual intemperate language.

"I am not particularly anxious to indulge in a battle of statements with Mr. Farley, but if he desires to continue during the coming weeks to misrepresent everything which is honest for him to understand, I am perfectly willing to take issue with him. I shall, however, always feel some confusion during this campaign in answering Mr. Farley. If I knew whether he was making his statement as the postmaster general or the chairman of the Democratic national committee or the chairman of the New York state Democratic committee, I could probably answer him more effectively.

Admission by Silence
"The Republican platform contained certain hard truths about the record of the New Deal which Mr. Farley does not seem to want to answer. By his silence I assume he admits that the entire indictment is true. As a matter of fact, he admits this by more than silence when he agrees that there are crucial domestic problems pressing for solution. There is a crucial domestic problem, and that is in getting rid of the present 'grab-bag' gang in Washington.

"Mr. Farley says, 'The great game of deception will soon be under way.' The citizens of this country including many of those who once belonged to the apparently defunct Democratic party, had thought that the game of deception had been going on at a high rate of speed for the last three and one-half years.

"I am not surprised that Mr. Farley should have seen fit to refer to Gov. Landon's interpretation of the monetary plank as a hazy one. For I know that anything having to do with a sound monetary system is hazy to Mr. Farley, and it is quite comprehensible that he should not have understood either Gov. Landon's interpretation or the platform which provided for a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards."

Cites Forgotten Platform
"Mr. Farley, like his chief, has conveniently forgotten that these words were included in the Democratic platform of 1932. But the reaction of the country showed that in one brief telegram, which took two minutes to read, Gov. Landon made his stand on money clearer than Mr. Roosevelt has ever been able to do through three years of administration as chief executive.

"We can all have a great deal of sympathy for Mr. Farley. His political creed does not include the possibility of a party united by anything except patronage. His experience with platforms and pledges is limited. Gov. Landon's telegram to the convention was in direct contrast to Mr. Roosevelt's action on the 1932 Democratic platform. Mr. Roosevelt was so eager for the nomination at any price that he flew to Chicago to accept the platform 100 per cent, and so far as the country knows, never glanced at it again. Gov. Landon's action was different. I said on Thursday night that their characters were different. Every action bears out my statement.

"There is another line in the Republican platform which Mr. Farley and his friends probably will not understand. I refer to that which mentions 'private honor and public faith.'"

HONUS WAGNER BOOSTS SEMI- PRO BASEBALL

Says Baseball Congress Can Promote National Sport

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 15.—Honus Wagner, high commissioner of semi-professional baseball, who will leave the Pittsburgh Pirates July 1 to assume his new duties, believes the program of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress will do more for the national pastime than any movement the game has experienced since inception.

"Revival of interest in semi-professional baseball is the salvation of the organized end of the game," Wagner said here recently. "I am accepting my new position largely because I love the game of baseball and believe the future of the game depends most on the success of the present venture."

cently coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Wagner has been named to baseball's Hall of Fame as one of the five immortals of the game. Babe Ruth, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, and Ty Cobb complete the quintet. Incidentally, Cobb is actively interested in the program as a director of the California state tournament.

Started Right
"I am convinced the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress is started on the right track," Wagner continued, "and the fact that a nation-wide organization is behind the movement will add prestige to the venture."

Thirty-two state and district tournaments are being sponsored by the association this year. Winners of these tournaments, state champions, will be eligible to compete for the national championship in Wichita, Aug. 14 to 26. This latter tournament carries a guaranteed minimum first prize of $5,000 in addition to mileage checks and the handsome Honus Wagner Victory Trophy, the largest ever offered for a sports event.

President Raymond Dumont has announced that teams must first compete in their state tournaments before being eligible for the national event.

Guest of Honor

Wagner was guest of honor at the first tournament held here last year. He was greatly impressed by the hugeness of the event and expressed a desire at that time to return this year. Congress officials immediately offered him the position he now holds, but it was not until recently that he agreed to accept.

Wagner will be the guest of honor at a number of the state tournaments affiliated with the National Congress, including the Iowa meet at Forest City; Nebraska at Omaha; Oklahoma at Tulsa; Montana at Deer Lodge; Alabama at Montgomery; South Dakota at Corsica; North Dakota at Devils Lake; Indiana at Terre Haute, and Ohio at Youngstown.

The Illinois state tournament will be held at Elgin. A. R. Dahn is state commissioner.

MAY CONTINUE EASTMAN'S JOB WITHOUT POWER

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—The senate interstate commerce committee today approved a joint congressional resolution to continue Joseph B. Eastman as coordinator of transportation for one year. At the same time it voted to strip the office of regulatory powers.

Approved by a vote of 9 to 7, the resolution would limit the authority of the coordinator to the making of studies in the transportation field.

It would provide for the assessment of a $2-a-mile annual tax on railroads.

About Bread

(Fortune Magazine)

The most common connection between bread and diet is not the idea that one kind of bread may be better for you than another, but that bread, any bread, is fattening. The same thing is said about potatoes. In the lay mind both of these foods pass vaguely under the term of starches, and the standard diet rule is to cut them out if you want to reduce. It is true that bread and potatoes can be fattening, since starchy foods can be changed by the body into fats, but it is wrong to consider these two foods more fattening than other starchy foods. For example, a pound of raw potatoes according to chemical analysis contains about as much starch (some 15 per cent) as a pound of raw cherries, and anywhere from one-tenth to one-fifth as much fat as almost any common fresh fruit. On the other hand, a pound of either white or whole-wheat bread (two small loaves, about twenty-four slices) contains only about 1 per cent fat and 55 per cent starch, which makes bread about as fattening as dried peas. The dried forms of bread like crackers (oatmeal, graham, butter, saltines, etc.) have about ten times as much fat (to keep them fresh) and 15 per cent more carbohydrate (starch) than bread itself. Moreover, weight for weight, crackers are more fattening than cupcakes or layer cakes or ladyfingers. Thus it can be seen that bread and potatoes are in fact less fattening than many another starchy food. Generally speaking, it isn't the bread or potatoes that will make you fat so much as it is the butter you put on them.

clined to reveal how committee members voted.

Whether congress would act finally on the measure in time to keep Eastman's job from expiring tomorrow, as scheduled under existing law, remained uncertain.

Eastman was named coordinator of transportation by President Roosevelt after the emergency transportation act of 1933 was enacted.

He was given broad powers to investigate and coordinate the various transportation facilities of the country with a view to eliminating costly duplication and waste in facilities.

EXTRA SESSIONS OF LEGISLATURE MAY BE IN VAIN

Possible They May Die
From Lack of Attending Quorum

Springfield, Ill., June 15.—(AP)—Weary legislators today faced the prospect that the special sessions which started last October would continue past the normal deadline of July 1.

Little hope was seen that pending business could be cleaned up this week in time for Democratic members to go to Philadelphia for their national convention.

Major issues on which action is unfinished include:

1. Governor Horner's proposal that an amendment to the revenue article of the state constitution be submitted to a November referendum. The governor is understood to desire that a revenue resolution be agreed upon before sine die adjournment of the fourth special session.

2. The second special session's amendments to the old age pension set-up, necessary if the federal government is to match the state pensions of $15 monthly. A minimum of three working days is necessary to complete action on this point.

3. The Chicago proposal, opposed by the administration, to increase from a third to a half the portion of sales tax revenues going to unemployment relief.

Devine for Adjournment
Speaker John P. Devine urged that final adjournment be taken this week, giving the legislators a respite from their trips to Springfield.

Senator Louis O. Williams of Clinton and Rep. F. W. Lewis of Robinson, spokesmen for the Horner Democrats, said on the other hand that it would be impossible to finish the work before July 1, after which the two-thirds emergency majority is necessary on all bills.

Because of the July 1 deadline on non-emergency bills, it has been customary for regular and special sessions to quit work during June at the latest. Bills passed without the emergency clause, requiring a two-thirds vote, become effective the following July 1.

The legislature did not meet last week, during the Republican convention, and will not reconvene until Wednesday because of the bonus payment. Several Democrats have made plans to start automobile trips to their Philadelphia convention on Thursday.

One possibility was that the special sessions would die because of lack of attendance. Senator James O. Monroe, Collinsville Democrat, predicted that enough senators and representatives might stay at home to make it impossible to transact business.

Science confirms the truth of the popular phrase "For Digestion's Sake ... Smoke Camels"

Scientists have found that Camels promote well-being by stimulating the flow of the digestive fluids... alkaline digestive fluids... necessary for good digestion. Often fatigue, worry, excitement, nervousness—all interfere with this digestive flow. Camels restore and increase it, thus assisting digestion to proceed normally and healthfully.

With their finer, costlier tobaccos, Camels give mildness a new meaning. They do not get on your nerves or rasp your throat. Make Camels your smoke—for their cheery "lift"... for digestion's sake. Camels set you right.

CUB REVIVAL SENSATIONAL; ELEVEN WINS

Can They Continue Victory String on The Road?

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

When batting might hooks up with pitching strength on the same baseball combination, fireworks are the general result.

That's the answer to the current pell-mell parade of clubs climbing Chicago Cubs, now riding high, wide and handsome on top of an 11-game winning streak, longest run in the big leagues this season.

It wasn't only that they suddenly came to life at the plate, or on the mound. But when they hit both at the same time—the resultant explosion is no more than can be expected.

For two weeks now, day in and day out, they've had the two, particularly a brand of pitching that's hard to beat. In 11 straight games, each member of the twirling troupe has gone the route; hasn't been touched for more than nine hits in any one battle, and has averaged about seven. At the same time, the batting brigade has clubbed out a grand total of 12 safe blows, averaging slightly over 11 a game. That tells the story.

Can They Continue?

The big question mark now is: Can they continue, away from Wrigley Field, as they've done at home? They start the eastern swing tomorrow, and thereby probably hangs their hope for catching up with the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals by July 4.

The long successful home stand ended yesterday with Frank Demaree's two homers accounting for all the runs as the Boston Bees fell 3-2 and Lon Warneke chalked up his third win of the victory streak. His second straight seven-hitter in five days.

The triumph, however, didn't cut down the St. Louis 3½ game lead. The gas house gang hooked up in a wild slugging spree with the Phillies and came out on top 12-10, as Dizzy Dean, going to work with only 24 hours rest, went in as a relief pitcher to end the game.

The two leaders pulled away from the third place Pirates, as the New York Giants snapped their own five-game losing streak and the Bucs' seven-straight winning run at the same time, with Hal Schumacher turning in a five-hit performance for an 8-0 edge. Winding up the league program, the Cincinnati Reds climbed to a .500 average for the campaign by trimming the Dodgers, 5-1, on the strength of Lee Stine's four-hit hurling job.

With the Yanks-Tigers and St. Louis-Boston battles rained out, the American League saw the Athletics knock the Indians into fourth place with an 8-6 victory, advancing Detroit to first, while Vernon Kennedy's tight pitching gave the White Sox a 6-4 margin over the Senators.

Baseball College At Bloomington To Open Class Today

Bloomington, Ill., June 15.—(AP)—Joseph Baker, city recreational director, announced today that the city's baseball college, planned for all central Illinois youths under 17 years of age will get under way immediately. Fred Parker, varsity baseball coach at Illinois Wesleyan, will handle the classes. Assisting him will be Howard Saar, athletic director at Bloomington high school, and Charles Mattoon, former Three Eye league umpire.

Wesleyan Stars Sign Major League Contracts

Bloomington, Ill., June 15.—(AP)—Ted Read of Piper City and Ralph Goldsmith, Springfield, co-captains of the 1936 Illinois Wesleyan baseball team, announced today they have signed major league contracts. Goldsmith, a third sacker, has accepted a bid from the St. Louis Cardinals, while Read, a southpaw pitcher, will join the Boston Red Sox at Chicago Tuesday.

Cardinals Trade Couple for One

St. Louis, June 15.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced today the release of infielder Johnny Vergez and Bill Cox, young right-hand pitcher, to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league.

The players are being sent to Sacramento in a deal, announced yesterday, which will bring infielder Arthur Garibaldi to the west coast team to St. Louis.

Plum Hollow Stag Expected To Draw Its Usual Crowds

Plum Hollow's annual Stag Day which this year has been set for Thursday, June 18, will be bigger and better than ever, Ted Talty, course caretaker said today.

All kinds of golf contests will be held as usual starting promptly at 1 P. M. on that date, with attractive prizes for every contest. It will be a banner day for every golfer attending. The course is in excellent condition, the fairways are green and soft as velvet carpets, the greens are like the plush robes of royalty.

Refreshments will be served on the lawn at the first tee and a real "dollar day" is in store for everyone. Whether or not any local golfers will join the Hole-In-One club this year is problematical. Last year at the stag, Coach C. B. Lindell came closest to the honor. Teeing off on Number Five he hooked into the woods. Mounting another ball on the tee the genial mentor socked it squarely into the cup 198 yards down the line.

Here and There In Sports World

By EDDIE BRIETZ (Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, June 15.—(AP)—Mr. Van Lingle Mungo wakes up this blue Monday morning to find himself squarely behind the eight ball. . . . His one man strike did what is known along Broadway as the old flopperoo. . . . Not only is the temperamental South Carolinian in bad with his teammates because of those blasts about poor sport, but the first division clubs have cooled off. . . . They are a bit leery of taking on an athlete disloyal enough to walk out on another club. . . . Be it said to the credit of the Dodgers, they didn't yield an inch. . . . And when Mungo found the Giants had lost interest, he was glad enough to go back. . . . He asked for it and he got it—right in the well known neck.

Shorts: Demoran Rayne, pitching for a club in the Evangeline League tossed a perfect game for 9 and 2-3 innings. . . . Then three opposition batters singled to win the game, 2-0. . . . Harry Cooper knows just how the kid felt. . . . Why has nobody grabbed "Nim" Newberry, who only batted .482 for Oklahoma City University last season? . . . That is busting the apple in any league. . . . Joe McCarthy labels Lefty Grove the No. 2 pitcher in the American League this year. . . . Nothing in a name. . . . Well, Bill Spear of Dickinson, N. D., high tossed the javelin 177 feet for a new state record.

The live wire town of Mineral Wells, Tex., is angling for a big league club to train there next spring. . . . Joe Louis says he honestly doesn't know which is the better hand—his right or his left. . . . All he knows is that he usually wins with his left. . . . That Brooklyn-Cincinnati trade—Fred Frankhouse for Babe Herman—seems to have fallen through.

BASEBALL LOOKS BACK

Celebrating its 60th anniversary, the National League is to stage one game in each of its cities this summer with picked teams sporting the uniforms of 1876. Tom Walsh, left, looks on in Chicago as Harold Compton demonstrates the approved batting stance of the good old days. They are displaying the diamond legacy in vogue when the loop was organized.

KNOCKING AROUND NAPANOCH

LASH SUPERB AS HE CRACKED TWO MILE RUN MARK

U. S. Olympics Star Threatens Finns' Supremacy

New York, June 15.—Amid the rapidly accumulating evidence that Uncle Sam's athletes will set a dizzy pace for all rivals in the Berlin Olympics, Don Lash's world record-smashing two miles stood forth today as not only the year's greatest foot-racing performance, but one of the most remarkable of all time.

The 22-year-old Indiana collegian not only surpassed one of the great Paavo Nurmi's supposedly impregnable marks by running the distance in 8 minutes, 58.3 seconds on Princeton's rain-swept track Saturday, but he became the first American ever to gain world renown over the two-mile route.

For the first time in foot-racing history, the United States has claim all world records for the standard linear-measured events ranging from 100 yards to two miles, with Lash joining the record-cracking company of Frank

Diamond Stars

Frank Demaree, Cubs—Batted in all runs with two homers in 3-1 win over Bees.

Hal Schumacher, Giants—Pitched five-hit ball to end Pirates' seven-game winning streak.

Bob Johnson, Athletics—Hit homer with bases loaded as Indians were defeated 8-6.

Lee Stine, Reds—Limited Brooklyn to four hits for 5-1 win.

Dizzy Dean, Cardinals—Stopped Phillies in relief pitching assignment with only 24 hours rest.

Mike Kreevich, White Sox—Hit triple and two singles, driving in two runs, in 6-4 victory over Senators.

Wykoff and Jesse Owens in the sprint, Ben Eastman at the 440 and 880 yard distances, and Glenn Cunningham in the mile.

Gives U. S. New Prospect

Simultaneously, Lash's victory projected America's hopes of conquest, for the first time, in the Olympic 5,000 meters, an event in which Finland's supremacy has long been asserted. Four years ago a lanky Oregonian, Ralph Hill, came within a stride of carrying America to triumph, at Los Angeles. Lash, on the basis of his electrifying development under the coaching of E. C. (Billy) Hayes, appears thoroughly capable of picking up where Hill left off and showing his heels to the world's best distance runners this August.

No American ever before had beaten 9:10 on an outdoor track for two miles until Lash thundered with amazing speed on a thoroughly-drenched track in Princeton's third annual invitation meet. The best of any of our runners had achieved indoors was 9:07.6, by Ray Sears, another Hoosier product, in 1934.

Heretofore, no American two-miler has been mentioned in the same breath with the peerless Nurmi, but Lash wiped out the Flying Finn's outdoor record of 8:59.6, and came within one-tenth second of equalling Paavo's indoor mark of 8:58.2, set on the old Madison Square Garden track in 1925. Lash's own best previous time was 9:10.6.

Stock Rises

Meanwhile, California foot-racers caused a sharp upturn in America's 400 meters stock. While Jimmy Luvalle of U. C. L. A. was lowering the colors of the east's best, including Syracuse's previously invincible Eddie O'Brien in the 440-yard run at Princeton, California's Archie Williams sped to a near-record victory in a 400-meters Olympic test at Palo Alto. Both stars are Negroes.

Williams was clocked in 46.3, a tenth-second short of Bill Carr's world record, while Luvalle was timed in 47.1, for the slightly longer 440.

YANKS RELEASE CHAPMAN, HIRE ALVIN POWELL

Disappointed With Bating of Six Year Regular

New York, June 15.—(AP)—To keep the accent on power in their drive down the pennant stretch, the Yankees are giving up Ben Chapman, batting disappointment of the lineup, for Alvin (Jake) Powell, the Washington Senators' fly-chaser.

Getting under the trading deadline by a day, the Yanks announced the deal yesterday as a straight player swap, figuring Powell's heavier-hitting and base-stealing prowess will more than make up for Chapman's throwing arm and speed.

For Chapman, the deal ends a six-year stretch as a Yankee regular. He has been dissatisfied over salary since before the start of the season. He was an extended holdout, finally signing up only a few days before the season opened, for a contract believed to call for $10,000 and a bonus on batting performance.

Fell Down With Bat

He fell down in the latter, however, and is hitting only 266 to date, despite the revived keynote of batting might all down the league-leaders' lineup.

Powell is batting near the 300 mark, and is leading the league in stolen bases. He has been a Senator regular only over the last two years. A product of Washington sandlots, he has seen action in Southern, Eastern, Central, International and Mid-Atlantic leagues since 1930.

The Cards did some player business, too, on the eve of the June 15 deadline for trades, obtaining Arthur Garibaldi, heavy-hitting, base-stealing coast league infield star, from their Sacramento farm. He reports at once possibly giving the Cards a chance to shift Pepper Martin back to the outfield again.

Manero, Cooper Needed Birdies

Chicago, June 15.—(AP)—Tony Manero, the new national open champion, and Harry Cooper, the runner-up, had to fire a birdie a piece on the last nine yesterday to break even in their match play exhibition against two Chicago amateurs, Johnny and George Dawson.

Manero had a par 73, while Cooper toured his home course in two under regulation figures. Johnny Dawson had a 75 and George a 73.

Decatur, Ill., June 15.—(AP)—Floyd Patterson, former Decatur Three Eye league outfielder, has signed a contract to manage the Canton, O., club of the Mid-Atlantic league.

Tennis Meeting Tonight; Everyone Asked To Attend

The meeting to complete details for the playing of the city tennis tournament will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the carrier boys' room of the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Players noticed yesterday the city has made preparations for leveling of the courts to prevent puddles forming after rains. The committee to be chosen to obtain the courts will inquire from city officials when and how long it will take to do that job of leveling, and whether or not it will interfere with the beginning of the tournament.

In the meantime it is urged that all interested in competing in the tournament be present tonight to draw names of their first round opponents.

Same Expectations

That was the case when Joe fought Primo Camera last summer and when he fought Max Baer before a throng that paid just a little less than a million. He was expected to score a quick knockout each time and he did it, stopping Camera in six rounds and Baer in four. Yet so great has been the drawing power of this young Negro who came out of the mid west to restore to boxing its "big money" days that no one has complained of the brevity of his battles. Nor have they objected seriously because his opponents, obviously frightened, appeared beaten before they entered the ring.

COOPER FACING FIELD OF 70 IN TITLE DEFENSE

Experts Predict that Course Record Will Topple

Decatur, Ill., June 15.—(AP)—The Illinois open golf championship, held for the past three years by Harry Cooper of the Glenn Oak Country club of Chicago, was at stake today as more than 70 players teed off in the 36 hole test.

The first half of the meet was on today's schedule, with the conclusion tomorrow morning. An 18 hole best ball pro-amateur event was carded for tomorrow afternoon.

Cooper started his title string in 1933 at the Medinah club in Chicago and repeated in 1934 at Springfield and last year at Rockford. Abe Espinosa in 1931 and Jim Foulis in 1932 are the only other previous winners.

Espinosa Back

Espinosa was back for another crack at the crown—and the $400 winner's share of the $1,000 purse. Among the other leaders in what has been labeled the best field in the history of the meet were Johnny Revolta, Horton Smith, Jock Hutchinson, Jimmy Thompson, Zell Eaton and Tommy Armour.

Local experts were predicting an early demise for the course record of 69 for the par 72 layout. The closely bounded fairways were hard packed to give maximum distance to drives and the greens were reported in excellent condition.

The open has been opened to out of state residents for the first time this year.

Entries were received from ten amateurs but only Gus Moreland, veteran Peoria sharpshooter, was considered capable of giving the pros a struggle.

The amateurs will begin their own state tournament Wednesday when a 36 hole qualifying round is played to narrow the field to 32 for match play.

Geneticists have found that there are different kinds of white. The white of White Leghorn chickens acts in a different way in crossing than does the white of Silkies and White Rose Comb Bantams.

Frankie Parker Will Defend His Clay Court Title

Chicago, June 15.—(AP)—Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, who held the title in 1933, was scheduled to start after his second national clay courts single tennis championship at the River Forest Club today.

Parker, top seeded star, is a strong favorite to reach the finals in the meet which opened Saturday. The champion last year, Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, is in England with the American Davis Cup team.

Seeded players who won matches yesterday were Gene Smith, Berkeley, Calif., Eugene McAliff of New York, Charles Carr of the University of Southern California, Gardner Mulloy of Miami (Fla.) University, and Guy Cheng of China, a student at Tulane University.

Hay Fever Cure is Reported in London:
Hundreds Seek Tests

London, June 15 (AP)—Hundreds of hay fever victims besieged St. George's hospital over the week end after they learned of a reported cure for the affliction.

The new treatment was completed after five years of research by the physiotherapy department of the hospital and is claimed to be 98 per cent successful.

The hospital has assigned three specialists to treating hay fever sufferers and the cure may be begun by other London doctors.

First information of the treatment came in a published description of the method. The cure is based on electrical application of a coating of ionized zinc to the sensitive tissues of the nostrils by a process similar to electro-plating.

Originators of the treatment declare immunity during the hay fever season may be obtained in three treatments and permanent immunity from a series at the beginning of two successive seasons.
One of the doctors said some 200 cases have been treated in the last five years "with almost complete success."

It has been estimated that approximately 2 per cent of the population of the United States is ill at any given time. That averages 7.3 days of sickness per person per year.

With an annual income of $9-600,000, London University is the richest college in England. Cambridge ranks second and Oxford third.

Missed Explosion

Commissioner Cal Tyler and Police Chief John D. VanBibber of Dixon had narrow escapes from death or serious injury in Urbana Saturday afternoon, where they attended the first annual police school, sponsored by the Illinois Municipal League. Less than ten minutes after they and forty other officials attending the school had departed from the old university library building a tank of an air compressor in operation at the entrance through which they had just passed exploded, killing the aged care taker and breaking all the windows in the front of the structure. The compressor was being used to operate pneumatic drills with which workmen were changing the lettering over the entrance to the building, and the Dixon men had walked less than two blocks from the door on their way to their automobile when the tank burst.

School a Success
They report the school an unusual success, attended by fifty selected chiefs and detectives. Addresses were given by Dean Harno of the University of Illinois law school; Assistant U. S. Attorney General Justin Miller; Major Lester, assistant chief of G-men; and a gentleman named Harbo of the Federal bureau of Identification.

Instruction in ballistics was given by Capt. Hopkins of the U. S.
Army. In machine gun operation by an expert from the Evanston police department; and in tear and poison gas by representatives of the Federal laboratories.

The final address of the week's session was given by Commissioner Tyler, his theme being the relations between the police and the public.

In the competitive events Mr. Tyler tied for second in machine gun and pistol fire and Chief Van Bibber was third in machine gun operation.

FIRST POLICE
RADIO STATION
IS DEDICATED*Other Six Units Will Be Ready Soon Chief
Williams Says

Springfield, Ill., June 15 (AP)— While Governor Horner today was dedicating WQPS, the new state highway police 1000-watt radio station here, Police Chief Walter Williams declared that the other six units in the police radio chain would be ready in the near future.

The other stations will be at Chicago, Du Quoin, Pontiac, Sterling, Macomb, and Effingham. The Du Quoin station will make tests early this week, probably concluding Wednesday when the Chicago station will start testing, Williams said.

Installation is being completed at the Effingham and Pontiac stations, and construction will start soon on the Sterling and Macomb stations.

Will be Finest
"When it is completed, I think this state will have the best police radio system in the country," Williams declared. "Receiving sets will be installed on 325 motorcycles and on more than 150 automobiles. We will be able to hunt down criminals with far greater speed and efficiency than before."

The new police station here was dedicated today by an address by Horner, with the ceremonies being broadcast over the Affiliated Broadcasting Company's stations. Horner also delivered the first official police message of the station.

The station uses a single tower 325 feet high for an antenna and its broadcasts may be picked up by many commercial receivers tuned at around 1,600 kilocycles.

The GLAMOROUS ADVENTURE
by Jean Seiwright © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, ambitious to become a designer, comes to New York and—due to a stroke of luck—is hired by MADAME LIZETTE, Proprietor of an exclusive shop.
Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.
Derek Harkness, young artist, is interested in Gail. He also frequently sees DICK SEARLES, whose sister, ROSE-MARY, was her roommate at school.
Meanwhile, in Arizona, Gail's uncle, MARK CHAPMAN, returns home after years of wandering, and finds his old home in the hands of the Travers family. Costume designer, Lucille Travers, who suspects the deal is crooked, and Gail, in touch with GILES HARDING, New York lawyer, hardly tries to locate Gail.
Derek asks Gail to marry him and she agrees. Later a misunderstanding comes between them and LUCILLE TRAVERS, who wants Derek for herself, tells him that Gail is to marry Dick Searles.
Giles Harding comes to see Gail and tells her about the Travers company's plot to buy her land.
Really worth a fortune. Gail's pleasure in learning that she is rich is dimmed by the fact that no word has come from Derek.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

MARK CHAPMAN glanced around the ranch house.
"Well," he said, "this doesn't look so bad, but I guess we'd better get some woman to come in and clean things up a little before our company arrives."

"I say it's just fine," Jed Hos-keer stopped to light his pipe.

"There's the postman and, by gosh, he's putting something in the box. See what it is!" exclaimed Mark.

"Just the paper, I guess," Jed said, tossing the newspaper on the table. "It doesn't get any bigger,
I notice."

"I reckon it's big enough to hold all the news that comes down this valley," Mark tore off the wrapper. "By gosh," he exclaimed as he looked at the headlines, "here's enough news to keep everyone talking for a spell. The Travers company has gone smash!"
Quickly Mark read the story of the spectacular finish of the mining company. "Seems they took orders on the strength of one they knew was in the Rancho Angelo and when they couldn't deliver, some rumor started in New York.
I guess Cal Travers is a down-and-outer again. Every office is closed up—my, but that will mean a lot of fellows will lose their jobs."

LUCILLE TRAVERS shook the angry tears from her eyes as she stamped about the luxurious living room of her home. "Don't speak to me!" she cried.
"But, Lucille!" Mrs. Travers dabbed at her tired face, devoid for the moment of any rouge or powder and revealing all the devastating lines of age. "No one dreamed such a thing could happen. Please don't talk so crossly to me. I can't stand it."

"I'll talk to you any way I like —and, more than that, I'll kill myself before I'll go out to Arizona with you and Cal. He'll never, never make a comeback.
Never now! It's too late."

"But we can't leave you here alone, unless—Mrs. Travers sat up suddenly—"you're going to marry that artist fellow. Is that it, Lucille? Of course that makes a difference. Still, if you love him like I loved your Pa—"

"Oh, forget it! Much you know about love!" Lucille laughed bitterly. "You don't need to worry about me. I'll have Trotter pack my things. Cal's creditors needn't think they can take them!" And she flounced away to her own rooms.

Mrs. Travers patted her eyes, though no tears came from them now. After all they'd done for Lucille, how could she talk to her own mother like that?

Mrs. Travers sighed. What if Cal hadn't treated her just the way he should during these years he'd been so rich? He needed her now, and she was ready to go with him, to help him get a start again.

"YOU mean," Natalie exclaimed, "that I'm invited to go with you to 'Heart's Delight' for the week-end?"

Gail nodded. "Yes, I came to meet you so you'd be sure to come straight home. Rosemary is calling for us tomorrow about 10 o'clock."

"And we'll drive out with her in her Rolls-Royce!" Natalie's voice quivered with excitement.

"Yes. She thought it would be nicer than going out by train."

"Nice! Oh, Gail, this is overwhelming. I can hardly realize that I'm stepping into society!"

"But the Searles are very plain people, Natalie. I hope you won't be disappointed. Don't think you're going to eat off gold plates or have peacocks' tongues for dinner! You'll like Mr. and Mrs.
Searles, though, for they're so genuine."

"But I can't understand why they should be asking me to spend the week-end with them!"

"I guess you made a good impression on Rosemary," teased Gail. "And they appreciate the fact that you've been so sweet to me. Let's hurry now, for I've got to fix my bathing suit belt. I broke the buckle, but I found quite a good-looking one that I can use."

"I'm so thrilled! Sweltering in the office I almost hated the thought of tomorrow and sitting around in my room, but now—I weren't walking down the avenue I'd dance a jig!"

MRS. JOHN R. FORNOF IS SPEAKER AT D. A. R. MEETING ON FLAG DAY

The annual Flag Day meeting of the Princeton-Illinois chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution was an event of Friday afternoon, Mrs. Earl Kissick being hostess at her home on Thompson street, to more than 30 guests including several members from out-of-town chapters.

Miss Jessie Dean, chapter regent, conducted the usual business and ceremonies, and announcement was made of several new members to be taken into the chapter, after which Mrs. John R. Fornof of Streator, state chairman of National Defense through Education, was introduced as the speaker of the afternoon.

Flag Day

Mrs. Fornof took "Flag Day" as her general topic, and enlarged on various aspects connected with the flag in regard to national defense. In her introduction she discussed the flag in connection with its 159th anniversary, and spoke of its establishment by the Continental Congress.

Mrs. Fornof mentioned its establishment as the first Union flag of our country, when it was first unfurled over a battleship, "The Ranger," of its first use as a battle flag on land at Brandywine, and of its first salute from a foreign nation, France, in 1778. She described the way in which stars were added as various states entered the Union, saying that no changes had been made since 1912, and that it was now regarded as that account as the oldest flag in the world, as even the flags of older nations have had changes made since that time.

Shows Dangers

Mrs. Fornof then proceeded to her main topic, "National Defense", and outlined in a graphic manner some of the dangers threatening the national unity through adherence to communism, pacifism, atheism, etc.

She spoke of self defense as being regarded as the first law of nature, and national preservation being just as important, as weak nations always are the victims of aggressive powers.

The speaker stated that while a citizen has inalienable rights, he also has obligations, and one of them is to defend those rights.

Quotes Constitution

Mrs. Fornof quoted part of the preamble to the Constitution and mentioned the clause, "for the common defense." "It is the duty of every citizen to see that the country is prepared and defended," she stated, "as it is only by adequate defense that peace can be obtained and kept."

WHITE MAN'S GRAVE

LAST of the strongholds of slavers, the small colony of French Guinea, on the west coast of tropical Africa, defies civilization by the white man. Portuguese adventurers discovered the region in the 15th century and started a series of slave kidnappings that did not end until the middle of the 19th century.

The British tried to explore the country during the Napoleonic era, but they soon turned it over to the French. Here is gold, rubber, coconut oil in abundance, but little of it can be had for export because of the district's sapping effect on the white man.

Low-lying shores, flooded rivers, stagnant swamps, dense, rank jungles and the everlasting heat combine to make French Guinea, like much of the surrounding territories, what has been called "The White Man's Grave."
